

AN ELEGANT WEDDING

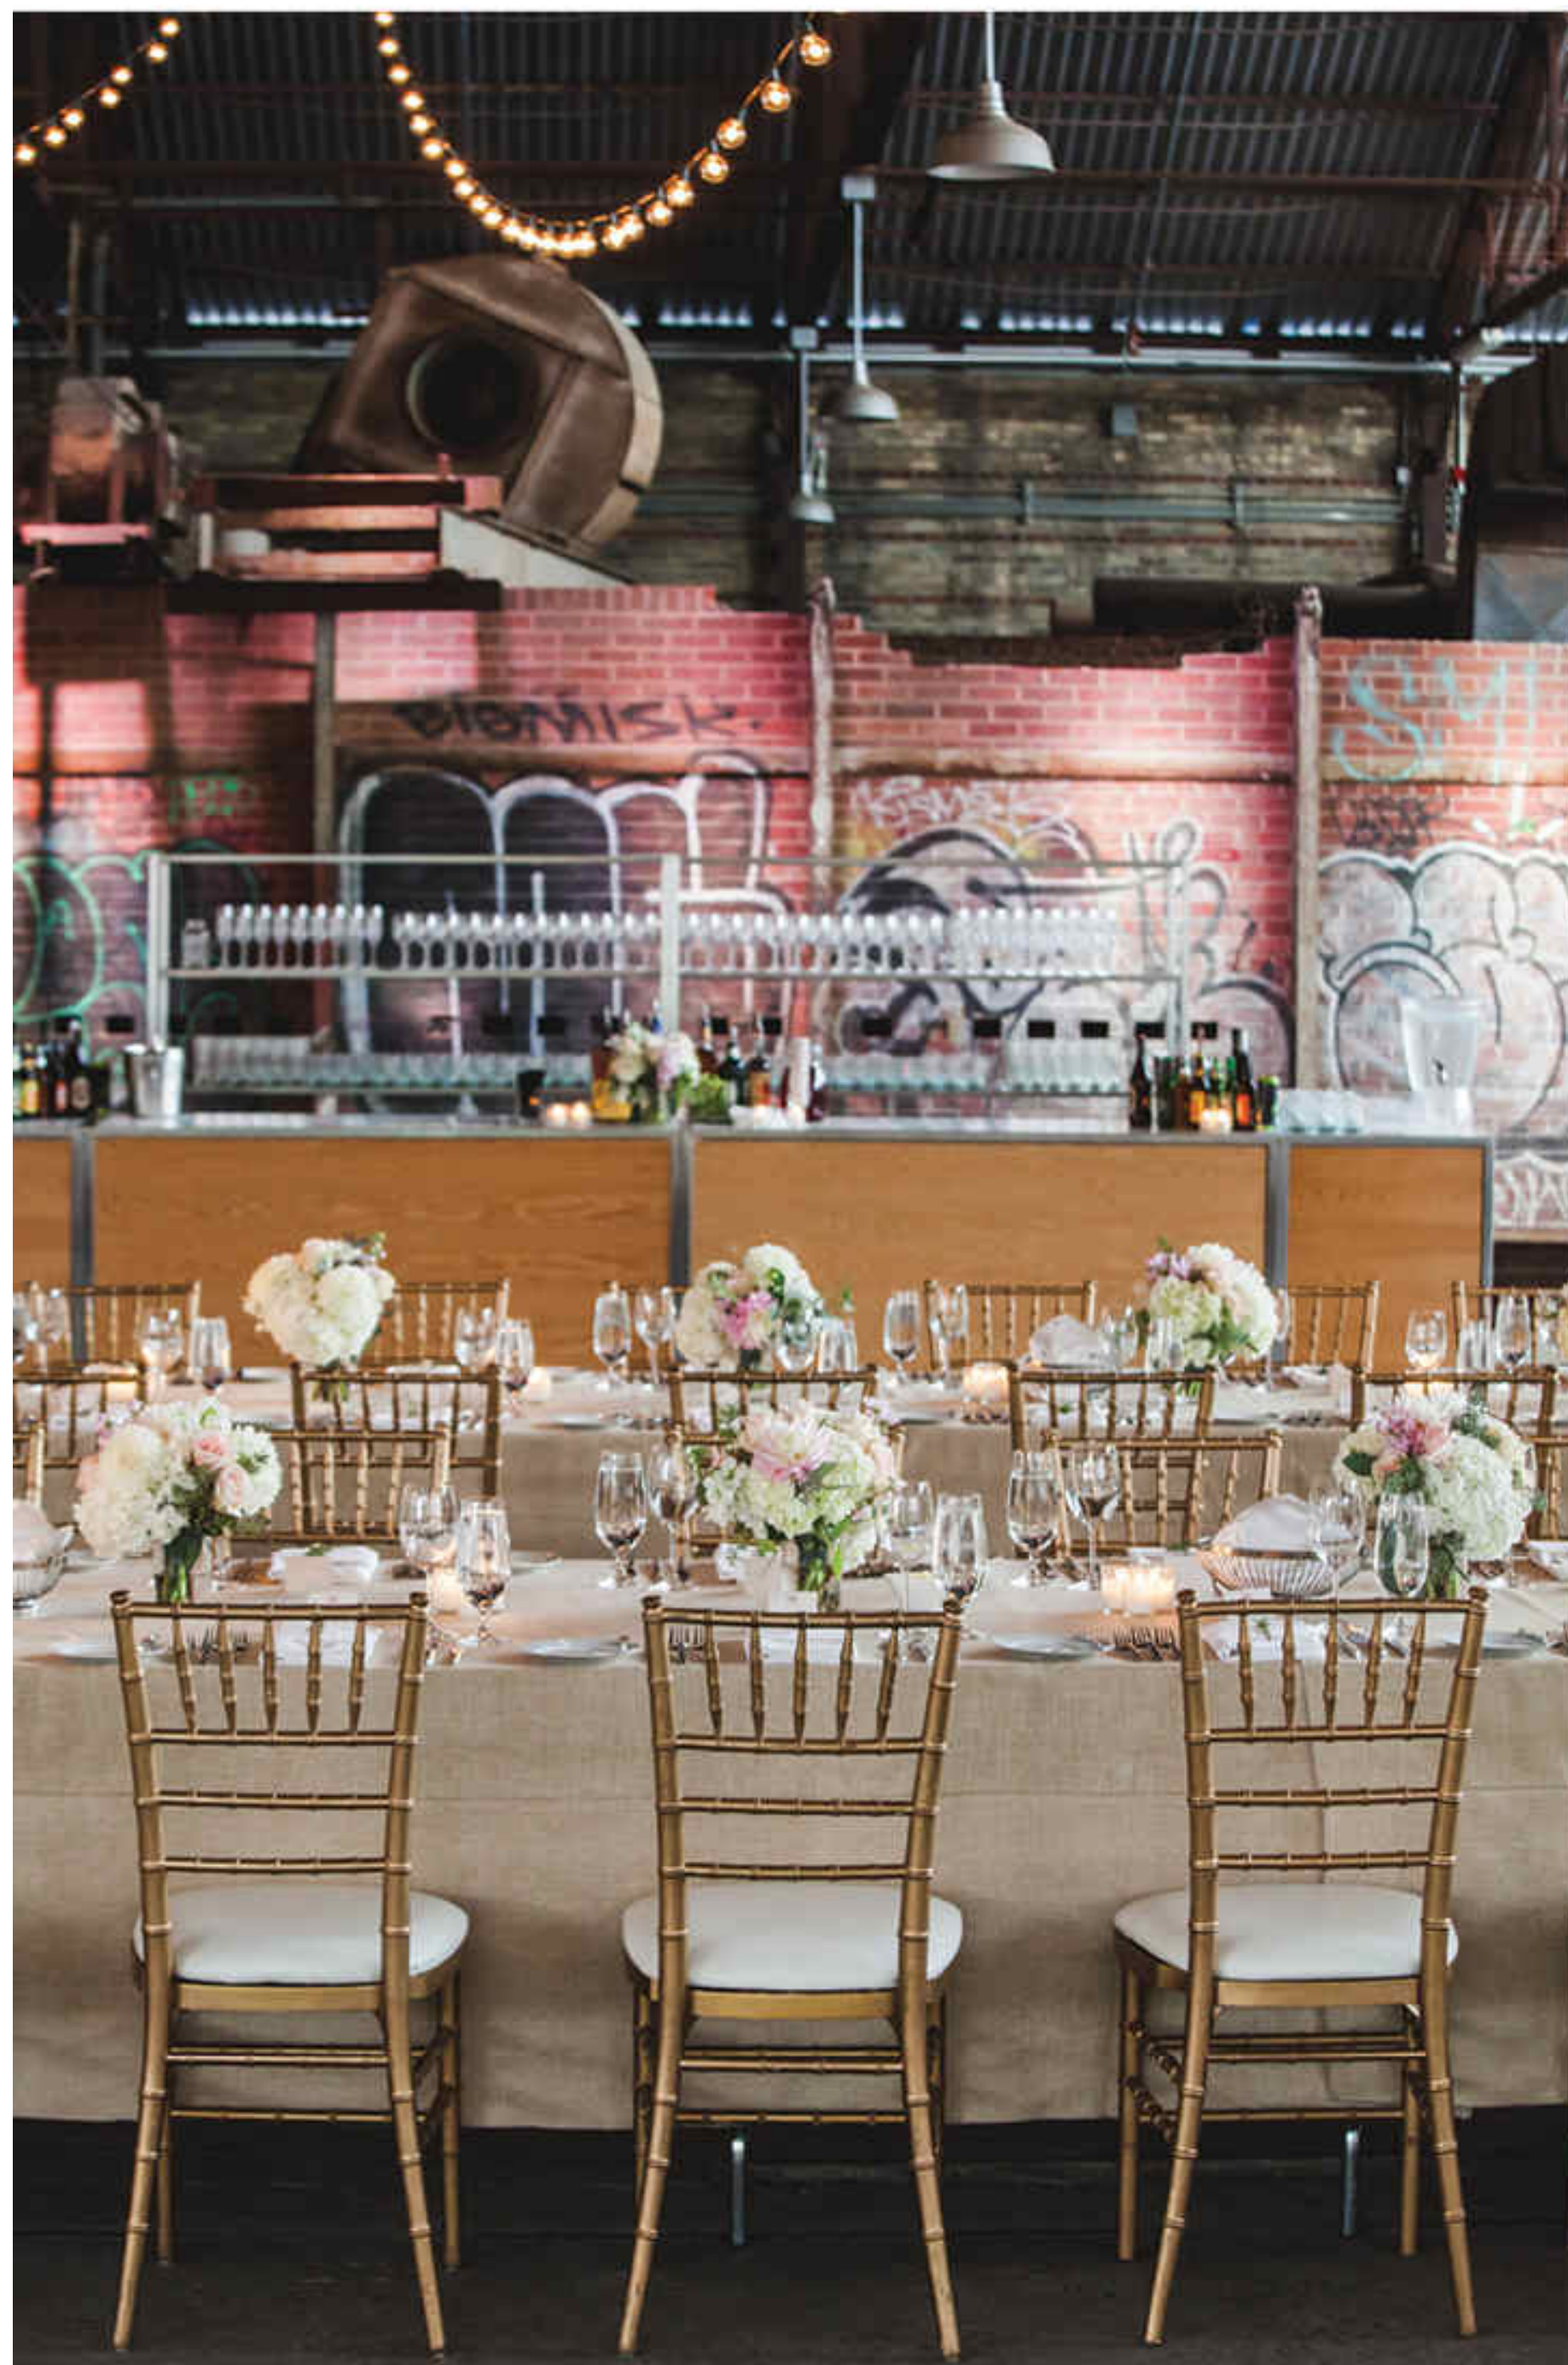

Seychelle & Eric | August 23, 2014

Event Planning: Laura & Co. Events | lauraandcoevents.ca

Flowers & Decor: Rachel A. Clingen Wedding & Event Design | rachelaclingen.com

Stationery: Paper Damsels | paperdamsels.com

Photography: Wandering Eye Photography

Event Planning: Laura & Co. Events | lauraandcoevents.ca

Flower & Decor: Rachel A. Clingen Wedding & Event Design
rachelaclingen.com

Stationery: Paper Damsels | paperdamsels.com

How They Met: With few opportunities to go out and meet people due to busy work schedules, Seychelle and Eric looked to the Internet for a shot at love. Following a match online in 2011, Seychelle and Eric had their first date in person at David's Tea on Queen Street in Toronto, where Seychelle anxiously pretended to like iced tea. The two sat on the rooftop in 35-degree heat and got to know one another. It was a "hot" meeting on many levels.

The Ceremony: Between the bride arriving late to the church and the pastor warning he'd cut the ceremony short, Seychelle and Eric nearly didn't have a wedding. Luckily, the bride-to-be arrived with just enough time. The couple had a traditional catholic wedding at the Holy Name Parish in Toronto - captured by Wandering Eye Photography - where Seychelle was accompanied by the lovely sound of church organs for her walk down the aisle. Before they knew it, they said their "I Do's" and were off to celebrate.

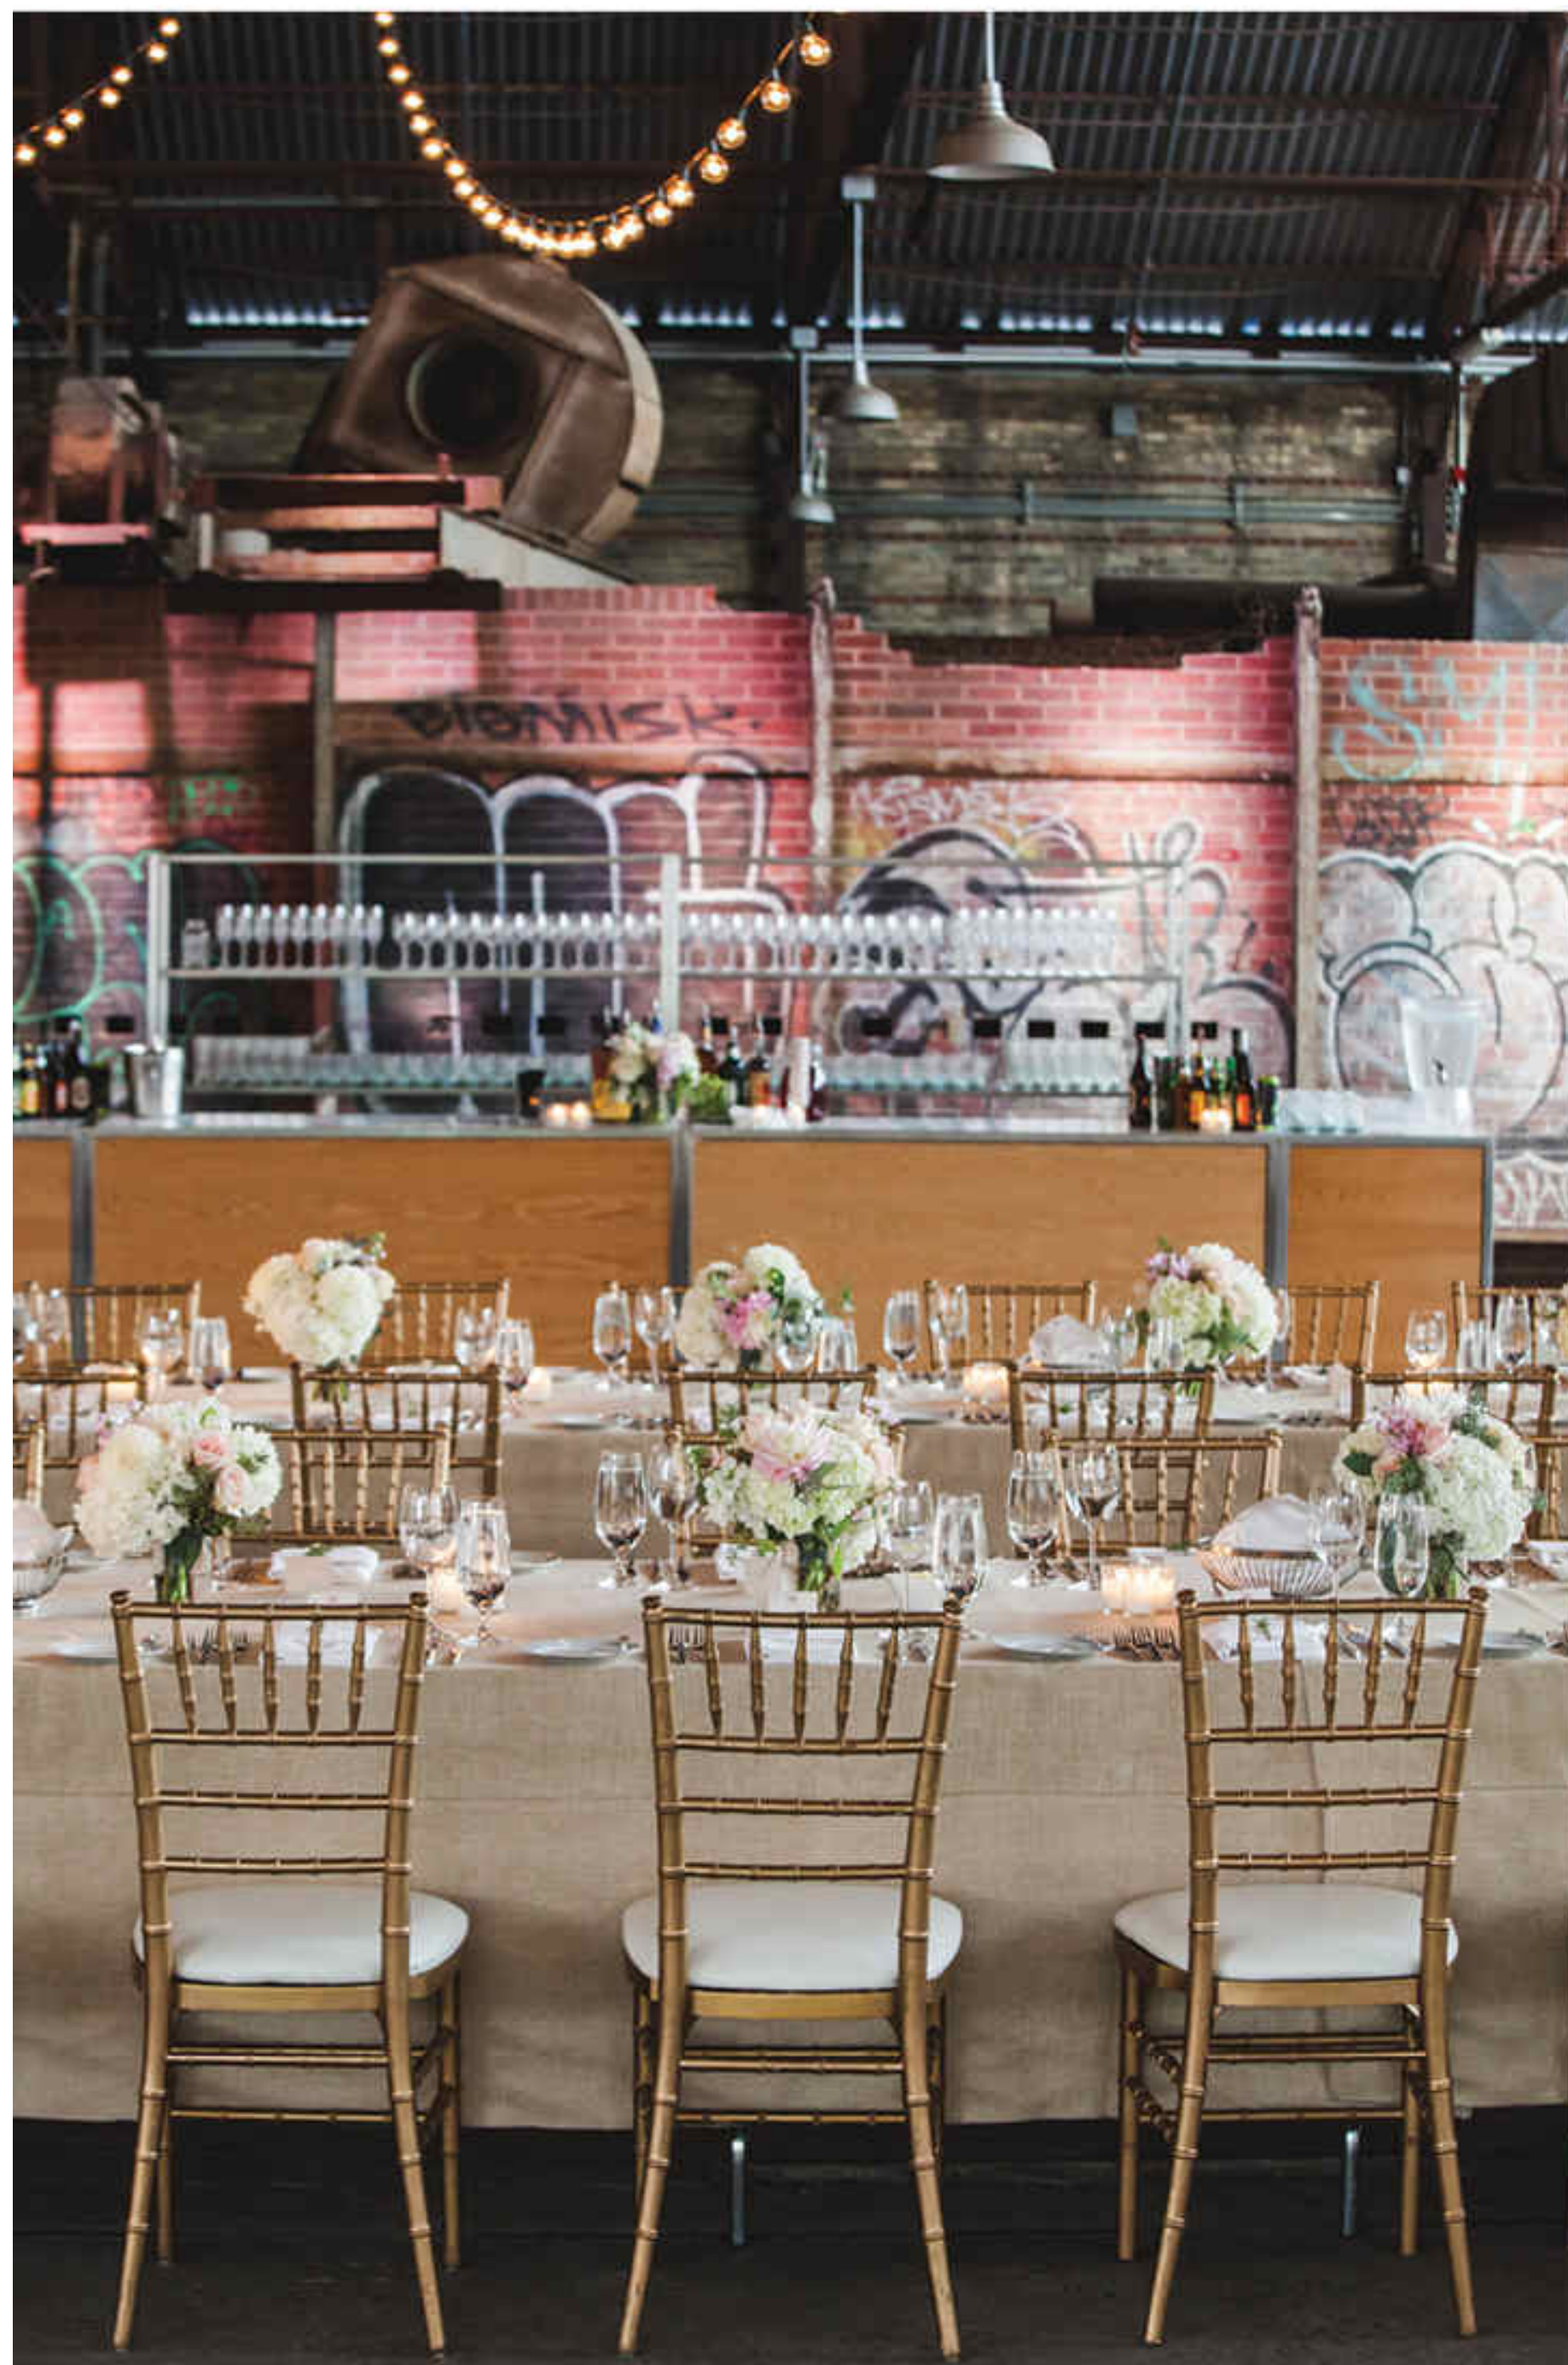

The Reception: The newlywed's entrance into the reception was extraordinary. In the traditional Assyrian way Seychelle had been looking forward to, the bride and groom were lifted on chairs and danced around by all of the guests where they shared their first kiss of the reception. Memorable speeches presented by loved ones of the wedding party were followed by the evening's live entertainment: a band that performed mashups of classic pop songs.

The Décor: The dynamic between Laura & Co. Events and Rachel A. Clingen Wedding & Event Design was exactly what Seychelle required to put together stunning décor for her reception. Blush, gold and ivory tones were used to match the edgy backdrop set by Evergreen Brickworks, bringing Seychelle's vision of elegance and romance to life. From the adorable brick-inspired stationery provided by Paper Damsels to the harvest and gallery tables set for the wedding party and guests, all elements were cohesive.

Event Planning: Laura & Co. Events | lauraandcoevents.ca

Flowers & Decor: Rachel A. Clingen Wedding & Event Design
rachelaclingen.com

Stationery: Paper Damsels | paperdamsels.com

Event Planning: Laura & Co. Events | lauraandcoevents.ca

Flower & Decor: Rachel A. Clingen Wedding & Event Design
rachelaclingen.com

Stationery: Paper Damsels | paperdamsels.com

How They Met: With few opportunities to go out and meet people due to busy work schedules, Seychelle and Eric looked to the Internet for a shot at love. Following a match online in 2011, Seychelle and Eric had their first date in person at David's Tea on Queen Street in Toronto, where Seychelle anxiously pretended to like iced tea. The two sat on the rooftop in 35-degree heat and got to know one another. It was a "hot" meeting on many levels.

The Ceremony: Between the bride arriving late to the church and the pastor warning he'd cut the ceremony short, Seychelle and Eric nearly didn't have a wedding. Luckily, the bride-to-be arrived with just enough time. The couple had a traditional catholic wedding at the Holy Name Parish in Toronto - captured by Wandering Eye Photography - where Seychelle was accompanied by the lovely sound of church organs for her walk down the aisle. Before they knew it, they said their "I Do's" and were off to celebrate.

The Reception: The newlywed's entrance into the reception was extraordinary. In the traditional Assyrian way Seychelle had been looking forward to, the bride and groom were lifted on chairs and danced around by all of the guests where they shared their first kiss of the reception. Memorable speeches presented by loved ones of the wedding party were followed by the evening's live entertainment: a band that performed mashups of classic pop songs.